THE BEGINNING: CHILDREN’S ECOCITY PROJECT
A thematic approach

1. Who we are
2. Where we live
3. Health and happiness
4. Freedom
5. Feeling safe and being cared for
6. Having our say
CHILDREN’S PARLIAMENT

• We work with children from their early years through middle childhood to early adolescence.

• Children’s human rights (to be healthy, happy and safe) and the idea of human dignity are at the heart of everything we do. Our interest is in children’s voices and effective participation at home, in school, and in the community.

• We use creative and participatory approaches. Our work recognises the effort we need to make to engage all children and to learn from their insight. “The Committee is concerned that children’s views are not systematically heard in policymaking on issues that affect them”. (UNCRC Concluding Observation 30a)

• We model how we want others to be with children; we provide training and support.

• We love and value children. It’s all about relationships.

• The UK should: "Establish structures for the active and meaningful participation of children and give due weight to their views in designing laws, policies, programmes and services at the local and national levels, including in relation to discrimination, violence, sexual exploitation and abuse, harmful practices, alternative care, sexual and reproductive education, leisure and play. Particular attention should be paid to involving younger children and children in vulnerable situations, such as children with disabilities”. (Concluding Observation 31a)
Children’s human rights are:

- Universal
- Inalienable
- Indivisible
- Shared

Rights are shared but do adults understand? That’s controversial. Our rights are universal but do adults understand? Our rights are inalienable, so don’t try to take them away because you’ll fail.

Children’s Parliament: Connections with Nurturing Approaches

- Create a safe space/place to be.
- Eat together and share news.
- Take time.
- Play together.
- Encourage listening.
- Encourage everyone to verbalise how they feel.
- Understand that all behaviour is communication.
- Understand and pay attention to points of transition and change.
- Adults model the behaviour we seek from children: adults are caring, respectful and they listen.
- Ensure a good ratio of adult to child participation.
Through our community programmes, projects and consultations children learn:

Skills
- Listening
- Working together
- Planning & organising
- Problem solving
- Communication
- Speaking in public
- Art and technology

Values
- Honesty
- Respect
- Equality
- Empathy
- Social Justice
- Participation
- Action

Behaviours
- Compassion
- Respect
- Fairness
- Thinking things through
- Taking care of people and places

Knowledge
- Children’s human rights
- UNCRC
- Adults who can help and support them

Active, engaged citizenship
Children's Parliament has been working with Aberdeen City in support of their efforts to engage meaningfully with children’s views.

- The work has been located in the city’s 4 Attainment Challenge schools.
- Started with whole class and small group workshops over a 3 month period – involving 300 children aged 8 to 11 years old.
- Community reports captured the child’s lived experience.
- 20 children then became Imagineers and represented the work of their peers in a mural and film.
- Senior officials and elected members have engaged throughout.
- The Imagineers now share their work, asking adults: What can you do to help deliver the Lighthouse messages?
- The work is central to development of the Children’s Services Plan, supporting the Local Authority to meet legislative requirements to consult with children and report on wellbeing.

If the UK needs to “intensify its efforts to tackle bullying and violence” (CRC/C/GBR/CO/5: PARA: 49A) what would a children’s rights approach look like?

HUMAN DIGNITY – THE ‘DIGNOMETER’

• Every human being is important and special. We call this human dignity.
• Respect for human dignity means that we should be friendly and kind to others and it is wrong to hurt other people or make them feel bad about themselves.
• No matter how others treat you, they never have the right to take away your human dignity.
• When you learn what human dignity means to you, you are less likely to accept when other people hurt, discriminate or put someone down.

The Unfearties

Children’s Parliament is 21 this year. To mark this special birthday, we are creating an inspiring and brave band of Unfearties - individuals who are not feart, are making a difference in children’s lives, and who are willing to speak up for, and stand alongside, children.

An Unfeartie…
- Listens to children.
- Views children as capable and an asset to their communities.
- Strives to ensure children’s voices are heard.
- Challenges infringements of children’s human dignity.
- Helps children learn the values of honesty, empathy, respect and social justice.
- Promotes greater awareness + understanding of children’s rights.
- Speaks up about their Unfeartie role and spreads the message about how to sign up.

Help us create homes, schools and communities in Scotland where children are seen and heard as a matter of course.

“Where, after all, do universal human rights begin? In small places, close to home - so close and so small that they cannot be seen on any maps of the world. Yet they are the world of the individual person; the neighbourhood he lives in; the school or college he attends; the factory, farm, or office where he works... Unless these rights have meaning there, they have little meaning anywhere.” Eleanor Roosevelt
